As Vice President of Business Development at Consultwebs (consultwebs.com), Tanner Jones oversees all business development opportunities for Consultwebs' clients. He has the privilege of speaking with virtually every law firm that contacts Consultwebs and working with them to determine if and how they will be able to accomplish their goals from internet.

“Consultwebs.com has been in business since 1999 and has been singularly focused on law firm Web marketing. We do not dabble in other areas in which we lack talent and resources. We focus on what we know best: Internet marketing for attorneys,” Tanner says.

Tanner frequently shares his insights on online marketing with the legal community. In addition to serving as a regular speaker at PILMMA and APITLA conferences held throughout the country, he has spoken at M&L Seminars, the Attorney Breakfast Club (Miami-Dade Chapter and Broward County Chapter) and co-hosted webinars with Google, Avvo, The Rainmaker Institute's Stephen Fairley, LawMarketing.com Editor-in-Chief Cindy Greenway and Raleigh attorney / PILMMA founder Ken Hardison. He also has been featured numerous times in Lawyers Weekly newspapers as well as Attorney at Law Magazine. Tanner is regular contributor to the Consultwebs online legal marketing blog.

A native of Waynesville, North Carolina, Tanner earned a degree in Business Management (with a minor in Economics) from Berea College in 2008. He has now returned to Waynesville, where he lives with his wife, daughter and son and enjoys camping, hiking, fishing, hunting, golfing and playing “any other competitive sport available” in his free time. His goal for sports has now went from "win" to "don't get injured."
